

Game Over

Description: A short video highlighting how video game addiction can blur the line between reality and fantasy, trapping players in a virtual world that steals their real lives. The message: the escape you think the game gives you isn't freedom — it's a prison that can cost your health, family, and dreams.